Hitler's Policies Are Endorsed By German Plebiscite

Berlin. — Germany expressed in votes its overwhelming approval of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's policies, including his remilitarization of the Rhineland and denunciation of the Locarno treaty.

Under the pressure of the Nazi propaganda machine, Dr. Fuehrer won the greatest majority the head of any state ever received, in the election of candidates for the reichstag.

The final official recapitulation of returns showed that 97.5 per cent. of those who voted marked "X" in the sole circle on the ballots.

Of the 45,428,641 qualified voters, 44,924,476 voted and 44,466,522 or 97.5 per cent.—showed their approval of the reichsfuehrer's policies. There were 542,854 invalid ballots, and 476,165 persons qualified to vote did not exercise the franchise.

If a voter left his ballot blank or treated it in any manner other than placing an "X" in the circle, it was counted invalid. This group, however, included those who wished to express disapproval of the reichsfuehrer's policies.

The final figures, corrected once by an official announcement, were still subject to possible slight alterations. The early ballot counting showed Hitler having as much as 98.5 per cent. approval but more invalid votes showed up later.

The greatest majority Hitler had had in previous plebiscites was in December, 1932, when 95.1 per cent. of the voters approved Germany's quitting the League of Nations and the disarmament conference.

From the list of 1,055 candidates, Dr. Fuehrer will select the reichstag members, who probably will number about 700, depending on the total number of ballots cast.

Exhortations had been dimmed in to the ears of the German people since March 7 to vote for Hitler, and Nazi truncheons and squawking automobile horns called them to the polls.

Government Would Guarantee Seed Loans To Saskatchewan

Ottawa. — Dominion government guarantees of seed grain loans for Saskatchewan up to a maximum of $4,000,000 would be authorized under a bill introduced in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Dunning. The bill received first reading after a brief debate.

During the past season considerable damage was caused to the wheat by rust with the result the grain is no good for seed, said Mr. Dunning. This condition was particularly bad in Saskatchewan.

The Saskatchewan government now had legislation under which it co-operated with municipalities in assisting farmers to obtain seed grain. The province guaranteed bank loans obtained by municipalities for seed purchases. The purpose of the bill was to add the guarantee of the federal government to that of the province in order to enable the lowest possible interest rate to be obtained.

The aggregate amount which might be guaranteed under the bill and provision was made that if the federal government should be called

Requests Immediate Action

Solving Of Railway Problem Asked By Canadian Chamber Of Commerce

Saskatoon. There will be no increase in Saskatchewan school grants this year, C. W. McCool, K.C., chairman, told the high school board here. He said he had been in conversation with Premier W. J. Patterson and the premier had said and the province would not in no position to increase the grants until after another crop had been harvested.

The answer was given by the chairman of the board in response to a question from a board member. In replying, Mr. McCool said the premier had assured him increases would be given next year.

To Meet In Winnipeg

Annual Meeting Of Weekly Newspaper Association Will Be Held In W.

Ottawa. — The board of directors of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association decided to hold the annual meeting of the association in Winnipeg the second week in July.

The board sat all day and was told by C. V. Charters, of Thompson, O.T., its managing-director, membership in the association was growing, a reflection of improved business conditions in this country. Mr. Charters said the association's financial condition was satisfactory.

Five members of the board called on Finance Minister Dunning at the House of Commons. The delegation included Charles A. Barber of Chilliwack, B.C., president, and S. J. Dornan of Alameda, Sask.

The delegation presented a brief which had been prepared during the day conventions held at Ottawa, and the weekly paper of the federal government and the weekly newspaper's call for the government advertising was concerned. Other matters of common interest also were presented.

W. Holmes, Rosemont, Sask. was among directors present.

Canadian Legion Meetings

Divide To Alternate Between Eastern And Western Centres

Vancouver. — The Canadian Legion turned down a proposal that all future conventions be held at Ottawa, and decided they be alternated between eastern and western centres with the Dominion executive empowered to call a convention if an emergency arises.

It was also decided that a convention be held in Ottawa shortly after each Dominion election, and that not more than two years elapse between conventions.

Big-Gem, Alex Ross, Yorkton, Sask., Dominion president, introduced the motion that all conventions be held in Ottawa. He felt that Ottawa was closer to the heart of legion activities and meetings there would help cut down expenses.

The amendment that the meetings be alternated between east and west, and this carried. The convention city will be decided upon by a vote of the membership.

C.P.R. Motion Picture

British Columbia To Film Early History Of Road

Expresses Regret

Premier Taschereau Deplores Move To Make Quebec A District State

Quebec. — Regret was expressed by Premier Taschereau in the Quebec legislature at announcements made by "well-informed but mistaken" French-Canadians they were working to make the province a distinct French and Roman Catholic state.

Such a movement was unfortunate, the premier declared, because Quebec was at this time attracting much attention from people seeking to invest capital here.

"The Ontario government recently repudiated contracts," he said, "Quebec did not. And I hope will never do so."

He appealed to all French-Canadians and Roman Catholics to refrain from "a useless and unwarranted religious warfare which could serve no useful purpose and would do considerable harm."

To Supervise Fisheries Patrol

Appointment For Man Who Resigned Seat For Dunning

Ottawa. — The government position given James J. Larabee, of Eldon, P.E.I., who resigned in Queens to enable a vacancy for Finance Minister Dunning, calls for supervision over operation of the fisheries patrol vessels, with a view to effecting economies.

Documents relative to the appointment were tabled in the House of Commons at the request of A. J. Brooks (Cons. Royal). They showed that Mr. Larabee, member-elect for Queens, had been named "special officer" in the fisheries protective service at $2,500 salary with travelling and living expenses when away from home.

The order instructed Mr. Larabee to devote his full time to supervision of operation of the fisheries patrol vessels and the fisheries patrol boards on the Atlantic. He was not to interfere with their operations or routine work, but to report to the department suggested means of effecting economies.

Postponed Indefinitely

Edmonton. — Registration of Alberta citizens who would be eligible for Social Credit basic dividends has been postponed indefinitely. Premier Aherst said in explaining lack of action since the plan was announced last autumn.

Some German Move Now Indispensable To Clear Rhineland Crisis

London. — Joachim von Ribbentrop, foreign minister of Germany, said today before returning to Berlin to report to Adolf Hitler on the Rhineland crisis negotiations, conferred with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at the foreign office.

Informed sources said the rich emissary sought an explanation of parts of Eden's speech to the House of Commons, in which the foreign secretary warned Germany a consulatory gesture of some kind was necessary to solve the Rhineland impasse, but also advised France to try to deal with Dr. Fuehrer with some leniency.

Hitler's ambassador-at-large was understood to be perturbed by some sections of Eden's address—a reaffirmation of Britain's obligations under the Locarno pact which was acclaimed generally by the British as the greatest of his career. German quarters said Hitler's counter proposals to the Locarno powers' plan consisted of "a precise and constructive" elaboration of Hitler's original offer of March 7, the date that he remilitarized the Rhineland.

Reviewing Anthony Eden's declaration of the government's foreign policy, said the existing European situation the Times described his statement as "the best he has given since he became foreign secretary." The Times thought he also was wise to acknowledge there was a critical mood in the house.

The British demand upon Germany is that she shall step by herself what is plain to the partial eye in every other country: viz. that she shall be a peace-loving power, now to help in clearing the debris of the old treaty from the side of the new," the paper said. "Germany has no other power to refuse her share of this preliminary reconstruction."

The Daily Mail thought the speech lacked realism and ignored the vital fact that the British public regards the treaties of Locarno and Versailles as a sacred legacy. His language, said British obligations under the Locarno was vague in the extreme."

The Herald believed "the speech was received with disappointment and dismay by those holding that our policy should be based upon the league. The government is anxious to see that Britain's last word be heard before returning to Berlin to report to Adolf Hitler on the Rhineland crisis negotiations, conferred with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at the foreign office.

According to the Daily Express, the house will have reference to the streets says "I don't care if France or Germany broke Locarno; I am not going to fight for either side."

Constitutional Autonomy

Changes In B.N.A. Act To Come Up In Senate

Ottawa. — Constitutional autonomy for Canada, which has been given for the first time since the Dominion-provincial conference last December, will be brought up in the senate but is not expected to be a direct issue in House of Commons debates during the present session. Debate in the house will have reference to specific amendments.

Hon. George Lynch-Staunton has given notice that he will "draw the attention of the senate to and inquire of the government whether it is the intention of the government to take steps to have legislation passed by the imperial parliament to the effect that the parliament of Canada shall have the authority from time to time to amend the British North America Act as it may deem proper."

Since this committee of experts, named by the committee on constitutional questions appointed at the Dominion-provincial conference in December, is still busy drafting the proposed new British North America Act which it is proposed to re-enact as the constitution.

Since this draft will have to be considered not only by the Dominion parliament but by the legislatures of all the provinces, it is now apparent that no final action can be taken until next year. Many of the provincial legislatures will soon conclude their annual sessions.

It was decided at the Dominion-provincial conference, with eight of the provinces and the Dominion in agreement, that many amendments to the constitution were necessary and that Canada should obtain for herself the right to amend her own constitution. New Brunswick dissented.

Lloyd George Issues Warning Of Military Alliances

London. — David Lloyd George, Great Britain's wartime prime minister, uttered a dramatic warning of the steps to be taken if the military convention in the House of Commons.

Speaking on the debate on the European situation following a statement to the house by Anthony Eden, a foreign secretary, Lloyd George said: "The moment you make a military convention, power at a time of crisis passes from governments to the military man."

Lloyd George, with oratory that held the house spellbound, uttered a dramatic warning against the dangers of a military alliance. The French were taking "an absolutely different view to ourselves as regards the steps to be taken if the powers failed to reach an agreement."

"There ought to be no ambiguity," the war-time prime minister asserted, "about a subject involving the lives of millions of young men."

He would not let the government do military measures come into operation merely upon failure of negotiations or only when there is an act of unprovoked aggression. "We were sorry to see that Eden stood by the military convention."

He would not let the government do military measures come into operation merely upon failure of negotiations or only when there is an act of unprovoked aggression. "We were sorry to see that Eden stood by the military convention."

"He organized a torchlight procession through a powder magazine and there has been very nearly a very shattering explosion." 2144

Sir Austen Chamberlain, who as foreign secretary negotiated the Locarno treaty, said today that the real issue was whether in the future force or law should prevail. Unless something could be done to restore confidence in treaties no new treaty would be possible.

Allying to what other speakers had described as "Hitler's reassuring utterances," Sir Austen explained: "You find plenty of these. What is lacking is reassurances that are at stake if peace for 25 years, but Germany already was bound under the Kellogg-Briand pact not to use war as an instrument of policy."

Referring to Germany's offer to join the League of Nations, Sir Austen said: "We have got to recognize that German standards and German ethics are not ours."

He referred to the German attitude in Germany he said: "We have got to recognize that German standards and German ethics are not ours."

Sir Austen dryly described Germany's 1914 diplomacy. "It was a diplomacy of ultimatums, each ultimatum somewhere else, each time confronting this country or that with brutal force in the explanation of the ultimatum."

"And then the same procedure once too often, and the world in the explanation of the ultimatum. We learn a lesson, unless the world can be assured that it is not in these that our quarrels will be settled, we are steadily marching back to a new 1914."

Lord Tweedsmuir Tells How University Training Enriches Private Life

"My last word to you on the value of university training is that it enables a man to lead a double life," wrote Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, in the McGill News.

"That sounds a shocking piece of advice for your visitor to give you. But if you think it over, I believe you will agree that it is sound," the governor-general said as he concluded the references to hobbies that "fill the mind out of its groove and give it a happy playground to which it can constantly turn for refreshment. They preserve your vitality and they keep old age at bay."

The university enriched private life. It provides certain permanent intellectual interests which are always there in the background as a refuge and a refreshment."

He had always tried to have one or two subjects on hand on which he worked and which engaged a different part of oneself from that which was employed in earning one's bread. "You may call that a hobby, but it was a hobby taken quite seriously."

Such interests kept a man or a woman young. Lord Tweedsmuir referred to the late Lord Balfour using his leisure from politics for relief "in the pursuit of art and philosophy."

Lord Tweedsmuir, who had led in British banking, became perhaps the greatest authority on the Homeric poems. "There were many other examples, he said."

In his capacity as Visitor to the university Lord Tweedsmuir wrote "A Message to McGill Graduates" for the quarterly published by the Graduate Society.

He recalled his three years at Glasgow University where "I had to walk four miles to the 8 o'clock class through all the varieties of unseasonable weather with the cold, snow, in winter, fortifies her children."

He was "an inconspicuous student, and I was prominently only at the rhetorical elections. One especially I remember where, against my convictions, I chose to support the Liberal colors, because I had heard of the Liberal candidate, Mr. Ansell, but not of his opponent. I nearly came out of my skin at the hands of the red-headed Conservative saviour, who is now the ex-cabinet minister, Sir Robert Horne."

The season lasted only half the year. "After a winter of hard work I became for six months an unlettered vagabond, wandering about Scotland on an old bicycle in the quest of trout. I am not sure that these long idle summers were not the best part of my education."

Oxford University "smoothed out the pride and the barbarian in me, and I, hope, gave me a reasonable perspective in life."

Lord Tweedsmuir, who won fame as John Buchan, novelist and historian, "I have had many professions—lawyer, businessman, soldier, government official, politician. But my university life has given me a permanent background, the value of which I would like to suggest to you."

Maintenance Of Peace

Everything Depends On Security Of The World Being Maintained

Everything depends on the peace of the world being maintained. There is no use of deceiving ourselves. We are only seventeen years away from the worst world war in history. The things that happened during that war are fresh in our memory. We have all learned one important thing from that experience. There is no such thing as either side winning a war; everybody loses, not only the people who are directly engaged in war, but the nations and the people who are not directly engaged. No one can escape the bad effect of a world war, and in thinking people often realize that another world war would be disastrous to civilization.—Thomas John Watson in the March "International Conciliation."

Advertising His Trade

This was because a neighboring sausage manufacturer would only contribute to the building of it if the authorities guaranteed that his noble trade should be perpetuated in the stonework.

Best Ration For Hens Food Should Be Of Type That Is Easily Digested

W. C. Tully of the Poultry Department at South Dakota State College says that 80 per cent. of the food a hen eats is needed to keep the body in good condition and to furnish heat and energy. That leaves 20 per cent. or 20 pounds out of 100 pounds of feed for eggs. This means that there should be very little indigestible matter in the hen's rations. The story is told of a farmer who was feeding corn ground with the cob, ground oats with hulls, alfalfa, salt, meat scraps and bran, and wondered why he wasn't getting eggs. He said a dayman gave him the feed formula and his cows were doing fine.

"Some people seem to think that the hen should be able to eat the same kind of feed that is fed to the cows and hogs; and, to some extent, they can. Next time you dress a chicken do it slowly. Pull out the crop first. How much will it hold? How much ground corn cob and cat hulls can the hen take into it? How much for grinding? It is really food. And how much food do you think there is in corn cob and cat hulls?"

Now, look at the stomach, which is about the size of your thumb. Cut it open and look at the little cone-shaped humps through which the food is to be digested. The food must come. How long do you think it will take to soak up the ground corn cob and cat hulls, besides the corn and oats, the ground alfalfa, bran, and meat scraps? The gizzard! Sure, the gizzard can do wonders, but it digests the food in a day for nothing? It not only wastes energy, but it means the hen can barely make a living.

Corn cob hulls of oats, coarse hay, etc., are injurious to the hen's digestive organs and it is far better and more economical to have them sifted out before feeding.

No Ground For Belief

France Post Set Small End Down Do Not Last Longer

A common belief among farmers is that the post will last longer if set in the ground the reverse of the way it grew in the tree; in other words, with the butt end down. The supposition is that sap in a tree is always ascending, or at least that it is easier for the sap to flow up than down. As a matter of fact, sap or water will flow in either direction with equal facility, and the popular notion to the contrary is incorrect.

The other agricultural experimental station set out a fence that contained 166 local posts, most of which were set with the top end down. The top end was up in 31 out of 166, and the bottom end was up in 135 out of 166. In other words, one-third of those set top down rotted off, compared with only a little over one-sixth of those set top up. From this and numerous other observations the conclusion was reached "that there is no difference which end is put in the ground except that the sounder or larger end should have the preference."

Prefers Simple Clothes

Ruling 60,000,000 subjects, including those of the Netherlands colonies, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is said to have an income of more than $5,000,000 a year from the Far Eastern crown lands. This makes her one of the wealthiest women in the world, points out Lemuel Parrott. But she never has played up to this distinction. The queen wears a Paris dress or hat. Her clothes are made in Holland, with no fuss about it.

Rabbits Bring Revenue

Three million jack rabbits, whose down make felt for men's headgear, and the winter's catch in Saskatchewan and have brought farmers of the province $500,000 in revenue, furriers have announced. The fur is sold to fox ranchers. A Vi count farmer caught 20,000 rabbits.

New Typewriting System

Dots And Dashes Are Substituted For The Vowels

Based on what psychologists call "kinesthetic perception," Dr. J. Edgar Cover, professor of psychology at Stanford University, California, has invented a new shorthand and typewriting system which he believes will revolutionize present day stenography.

The new shorthand, which will be known as "motoricist," is made up of consonants with dots and dashes for the vowels. While not as short as systems now in use, Dr. Cover declares, tests have demonstrated it can be translated directly from code without difficulty.

The typing system is based on a sense of position rather than on sight and touch. The student learns a different finger position for each key before he begins to type. The system, when actually practiced, starts his fingers fall naturally into position. Dr. Cover declares the system is applicable to all individuals, regardless of physical differences.

Sea Coconut Grows On Islands In Indian Ocean

What is the largest fruit? Most people probably would say, "the coconut of course." The biggest fruit in the world is the Coco de Mer (sea coconut), or double coconut, as it is sometimes called. This huge fruit grows on palm trees in the Seychelles, a group of islands in the Indian Ocean, and weighs about 10 pounds. It takes four years to grow to its full size and another six years to become ripe. Inside a thick, thorny coat there are from one to three large nuts.

The average life span of an ant is eight to ten years.

Health League Of Canada Making Great Strides In Decreasing Mortality Rate

The Gardens Of England

Most Popular One On View Is At Sandringham

People on this side of the Atlantic hear much about the glory of English gardens, but they are not often the working people, but of the stately homes. When they go over for a trip they visit the places of historic interest and the better known beauty spots, and it is not sufficiently known that special tours can be arranged so that they may see many of the most beautiful gardens for a small sum at each place; the money usually being donated by the owner to a local charity or more often, to the Queen's Institute of District Nurses. There are, in fact, over 1,000 gardens on view. Some of the best have traditions for 500 years back, one of the most interesting of the older gardens being at Ann Hathaway's, near Stratford-on-Avon, which Shakespeare knew so well.

The most popular garden is, of course, Sandringham, in Norfolk, which the King throws open three times a week. The late King was always very interested in the garden scheme and handed over £1,000 last year which was taken at Sandringham alone, a greater sum than was raised in any other garden in the country. Among the greater historic homes which are open at regular intervals are Hatfield, a few miles from London, the home of the Cecil family; Knole, in Kent, the home of the Sackvilles; Chatworth, in Derbyshire, the great place of the Cavendishes; Brockley, the home of Melbourne and Palmerston; Harwood House, the home of the Princes of Wales; and Eaton Hall, the home of the Dukes of Westminster. In homes such as these, English history has been made for several centuries.—The Times Magazine.

Americans Import Grass

Demand For Crested Wheatgrass Exceeds The Supply

Because of its value as a forage crop that will regrow after land of low value, demand for crested wheatgrass exceeds the supply, according to a report from the United States department of agriculture.

The grass was introduced into the United States from the dry plains of Siberia. The unusual demand for seed was attributed to several causes. One of the excellent ways in which the grass has come back into vogue after two years of drought, its value for hay and pasture, and the comparative ease with which it can be harvested and planted have proven its value to the farmer, the department said.

Exports made in July alone, most, have disclosed that cattle pasture more days and made greater gains on fewer acres of crested wheatgrass than on native grasses. Wheatgrass lasted 141 days, as compared with 125 days for native grass and 291 days for native grass. It was found that 291 pounds was 291 for wheatgrass 219 for native grass, and 114 for native grass. Similar results were obtained at other stations.

The grass appears two or four weeks earlier than native grass in the spring and lasts four to six weeks longer in the fall, if moisture conditions are favorable. It makes hay of a high quality, is a good seed producer, and is an excellent grass to use in rotation, especially as a sod crop for flax.

Not In His Lids

Three sailors were spending their Easter leave in the country. Presently two of them got into a heated argument over what kind of animal a heifer was.

"It's a sort of pig," said one.

"Not on your life," replied the other. "It's a kind of sheep."

Finally they called in the third party.

"Bill," said the first sailor, "what's a heifer—is it a pig or a sheep?"

Bill scratched his head, nonplussed.

"To tell you the truth, shipmate," he said, "I dunno much about poultry."

Doctors used to regard cancer and tuberculosis as diseases antagonistic to one another, but now it is being proved that individuals may have both at once, and even in the same organ.

One hears much of mercy killing these days. We know a few rich performers we could offer as subjects for the experiment.

"While it is true that great advances have been made in the control of communicable diseases there are other diseases which are at the present time taking too great a toll of life. I have in mind such conditions as heart disease, tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza and cancer, particularly the latter, Major Hon. C. G. Power, M.C., Minister of Pensions and National Health, told the annual meeting of the Ottawa Social Hygiene Council recently.

Major Power complimented the Council, its parent body the Health League of Canada and all active health agencies on the strides made in decreasing the mortality rate of such diseases as diphtheria and typhoid fever by educating the public to a greater use of toxoids, pasteurization and other preventive measures.

At the same time he pointed out that there was no positive prevention against cancer, tuberculosis and heart disease. Nevertheless all are curable if treated in their early stages of development. To that end the only control was the periodic health examination which assured early recognition and consequently prompt and effective treatment.

How necessary it is to check the spread of cancer is indicated by the fact that there were 10,570 known cancer-deaths in the Dominion in 1934. Similarly there has been a marked increase in deaths due to tuberculosis. The health statistics for the whole of Canada were available for the first time. While tuberculosis-deaths are known to be on the decline, medical authorities are of the opinion that they could have been decreased 50 per cent. last year if the measures for controlling the disease had been "uniformly and effectively" applied.

Asserting that the one and only real factor in the battle today should be the "fear of delay in its discovery" Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, formerly Chief Inspector of Health for Ontario, urged the people of this province to give attention to its control by early treatment.

Symptoms stressed by Dr. McCullough are lump, unhealing sores, digestive troubles, difficulty in swallowing and chronic hoarseness. It is a fact, he states, that 95 per cent of cases of cancer occur after 35 years of age.

"Pain is not an early sign. It is a late sign, and it is not as severe as a bad toothache. If it were the disease would be discovered when it is curable," he said.

On the diagnosis of the symptoms he was emphatic: "Be sure you get a decided opinion one way or the other. Do not delay."

Most, have disclosed that cattle pasture more days and made greater gains on fewer acres of crested wheatgrass than on native grasses. Wheatgrass lasted 141 days, as compared with 125 days for native grass and 291 days for native grass. It was found that 291 pounds was 291 for wheatgrass 219 for native grass, and 114 for native grass. Similar results were obtained at other stations.

Activities in the formation of local branches of the Health League of Canada, formerly the Canadian Social Hygiene Council, are noticeable throughout the province. Dr. Schuchman, according to Dr. D. V. Curry, Medical Officer of Health, has already begun organization work which will be completed in the very near future. At its recent annual meeting the Ottawa Social Hygiene Council voted the incoming executive the power to change the name of the branch to conform with the new name chosen by the parent body.

What's the health fact? For an average million people in the United States there will occur annually between 800,000 and 900,000 cases of cancer. If you had a million dollars in the savings bank, that though 470,000 will not be sick during a normal year, 460,000 will be sick one week to the full year, and still three or more illnesses. Of those who become ill 25 per cent. will be disabled for periods ranging from one week to the full year. The annual money lost in wages caused by this sickness in families with small and modest incomes will be not less than $200,000,000. The extra expenses of medical cases probably are not less than $1,360,000,000.

It has been a commonly accepted practice to value the good will of a going concern at five or six times its average net profit per year.

New Organ For Westminster

Instrument To Be Installed In Time For Coronation Of King Edward

Westminster Abbey is to have a new organ in time for the coronation of King Edward VIII. It is expected to cost £20,000. An anonymous donor has given £5,000, and it is hoped the balance will be raised without a public appeal. "Most of our present organ is 200 years old," said the dean of Westminster, Mr. Puckey Norris, "and it has been patched and patched in recent years. Once or twice it has broken down, and one whole part of the organ is out of action."

Ten cans were first made by tin-smiths, who turned them out by hand at the rate of 60 a day.

Isobergs have been known to take as long as 200 years to melt.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

—BY—
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming assisting a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

The meeting terminates but Buzz Hamilton and his sister Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "aprend". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Butler Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is unhurt. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties. Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Townsend to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Helen and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers to ship with her. Link goes to see Sheriff, who tells him Buzz Hamilton has been paroled, and must arrive on the incoming stage but that he thinks Link has made a mistake in getting Buzz released.

Buzz Hamilton arrives back in Rawhide while Fleming and Helen are in the bank getting a loan for payment of wages for work on the dam. Roper Kilgo and Jackpot Moll meet him and he goes into the saloon with them. By the time his sister and Link come from the bank Buzz has had several drinks. Roper Kilgo explains the facts concerning the dam proposal to Buzz, making it appear that Link was trying to ruin him. Buzz, inflamed with liquor and anger, tries to throttle Fleming, but is thrown to the floor. Then Helen appears and tells Fleming she has been robbed of the $500 they had obtained from the bank.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER X.

Fleming ran down the few steps from the saloon platform, crossed the board sidewalk, and grasped her pinto's bridle. "Robbed?" he echoed. "You mean our eight hundred's gone?"

"Yes! As I rode past the timber near Iron Spring a man held me up. I struggled with him. He was a brute. He got our eight hundred dollars. Oh, Link, what shall we do?"

He slipped the pinto's reins over his arm. Out of the corners of his eyes he saw men hurrying from the saloon. "Sak—make out! It don't amount to much. Helen, be asked with quick concern at sight of a dark burke on her cheek. "You're hurt!"

"No. It's nothing." She touched the spot and with fingers that trembled, tucked her glossy hair into place and regarded her nose skeptically. Helen, who had been asked with quick concern at sight of a dark burke on her cheek. "You're hurt!"

"No. It's nothing." She touched the spot and with fingers that trembled, tucked her glossy hair into place and regarded her nose skeptically. Helen, who had been asked with quick concern at sight of a dark burke on her cheek. "You're hurt!"

Fleming, with Roper Kilgo, Moll, and the others watched for an instant the mute display of affection between brother and sister. Touched by the scene, they turned away.

"She got robbed, Link? How did you do it?" Where?"

"He don't reply to the look like that," he said and answer the first. "Ames, the Star Loop over and said in ten tone others could not hear, 'don't let me how much, 'cause it'd make things harder for us at the dam. He got robbed of eight hundred bucks we just borrowed from Otto Pieper."

The law man's eyes widened. He strode over to the girl, Fleming at his heels. "Tell me about it, Miss Hamilton, so I can start huntin' for the guy right off!"

"He was another moment of staring at Buzz, taking his face between the two spot palms while he looked at him again and again. "Oh," she breathed as happy, thankful tears coaxed down the smooth tan of her cheeks. "I'm glad you're here. Nothing else matters now. But how—" She stopped. "I don't understand. Your three years—"

"Link got me paroled." Buzz measured the rancher with eyes that expressed not the slightest gratitude.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the advent of "Aspirin," "indol" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and bad for the heart. Which he found for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this:

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Corporation, Limited. Look for the name Bayer and the form of a cross on every wrapper.

Demand and Get "ASPIRIN"

Helen turned to look at Fleming, who shifted weight in embarrassment. At length he lifted his gaze to find her still fixed upon him. Unspeaking tenderness lay in the soft pool of her eyes, and a fondness he had scarcely dared hope even to exist. Of a sudden he felt again that the Silver Creek project must be made a success! So that later, when both aspects prospered from its waters, he could ask Helen the question he had longed to ask with luxury while they looked at the wedding and engagement ring display in Irv Lane's window.

She was describing the bodipup. "He wore a bandana mask and walked out from behind a big boulder right alongside the road. He had two guns, and he was a heavy-set man, not very tall, but powerful looking. He wanted the money we—I had just drawn from the bank."

"How much?" Kilgo asked directly.

"I had my thirty-eight," she continued, pretending not to hear. "I tried to get it, but he came at me and grabbed my wrist. Pugged me off my horse, and he straggled. He hit me, bending my arm behind my back. But I got a clue!" she finished with grim-set lips. "I got this!"

Helen held forth a leather wrist cuff such as was commonly worn by punchers. It was not new but dark with use, and its rivet design of the hands could only be made out on close inspection. Ames acceded to a brief scrutiny and held the object aloft. "Anybody know whose this is?"

Apparently no one did. The cuff resembled others worn by many a man in Boone County, yet was not exactly similar. At length Stephen turned on his heel, starting toward his office fifty yards down the street. "I'm going for looks like the place," he announced with a shrug. "He'll be there's other clues. Sound like that guy Berrens, maybe, that killed Soak Trout over at the dam. I'll get that money back. Might take some time, but we'll bag the guy sooner or later!"

There was some doubt of this in Link's mind, but he did not voice as he touched Helen's arm. "Do you think we might start for the ranch now?"

"Oh, Yes, I think we had better, Link," she said in a low voice. "I could we get another loan from Otto Pieper?"

"Don't think so. We better get out of town before Otto hears about this. There'd only be an argument and everybody'd find out about our business."

Roper Kilgo held her pinto while the girl remounted. "I'm shore sorry that honters had the crunt to lay a finger on you, Helen. By gosh, if I meet up with 'im I'll be lead rat'n an' talk afterward, yuh bet!" He flung a surly glance at Link. "Oughtn't to've been allowed to go alone anyhow if yuh had money along," Roper growled.

Fleming had dispatched Luke Green to his livery barn for a saddle horse, and this was now brought for Buzz Hamilton. He climbed astride somewhat stiffly but seemed pleased at the feel of a mount between his legs after so long a period, and they started at a trot out of Rawhide.

For some time Link rode in silence, listening to the eager questions Helen put to her brother. But young Hamilton was mostly from the liquor he had consumed in the Half Moon, and once the excitement of their reunion waned, he adopted an attitude of dogged sullessness.

Presently Helen urged her mount closer to Link's. "Is this the surprise you had for me? Is it what you spoke to Sheriff Stephens about?"

He nodded. "I figured we'd come out of the bank about the time the stage rolled in, so you'd get a real surprise. O course," he said so that Buzz could not hear, "I didn't plan on him gettin' into the saloon."

She cast a worried glance at her brother. He had turned his head away for a future slip from a pint flask of whisky. Stowing it in his pocket, you are back, and we're going to have such a wonderful time, starting all over again. You must forget the past and think only of the future. Wasn't it generous of Link to arrange to let you get your freedom, Buzz?"

He answered with a malcontent look. "Still patrin' his game over on yuh! Generous? Yeah—to himself."

"Why, Buzz! Whatever do you mean?"

"I mean he's roped yuh into his fog irrigation scheme—what folks call Fleming's Folly. He's afraid yuh might back out while there's still a chance to save our Triple H from bankruptcy. So for a last play to keep yuh fooled he got me paroled. That, and because he was afraid Kilgo would get me a full pardon, the only thing really worth while. If I had my legal rights Fleming couldn't figure to keep the wool pulled over your eyes! Paroled this way, I haven't got 'em."

Helen stared from one man to the other, her pliant oval face drawn in pain. "Oh, Buzz, don't say that! I went into partnership with Link of my own free will. Why, that dam is going to be the makings of our spread!"

Again he fished the flat bottle from his pocket. "Makin's of the Star Loop, yuh mean!" Uncocking the flask, he raised it to his lips. "Buzz! Don't drink, please! You know yuh—that it was part of the course of your shooting—I mean," she stopped, gasping at the sight of him for dominance of her lovely face. "Buzz, please don't begin drinking and gambling the instant you come home!"

He swallowed none or the fiery liquor as if deliberately to flaunt her request. But of a sudden, as he was slowing the bottle away, a spasm of spurred his stallion to Hamilton's off-side. With a quick sweep of his hand he sent the bottle hurtling into the dust.

Buzz gasped. "What the hell yuh doin'?"

"Keep this up and your parole is going to end dogged and I planned to surprise your sister, make her happy for sight of you, and here you go back to company like Jackpot Moll and the others the minute you land in town. Watch your step!" Fleming warned sharply. "Or you'll find yourself on the inside lookin' out like yuh were till I went to a lot of bother to help you!"

"Threatenin' me? I wish to go alone anyhow if yuh had money along," Roper growled.

Master Code In Alberta

Provides For Fixing Both Maximum and Minimum Prices

Fixing of both maximum and minimum prices are provided in the general master code binding upon all classes of retail trade in Alberta, which has been approved by the provincial government and was released by Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry. It is to take effect April 1 next.

The minister stated that regulations under the code will provide for a licensing fee of not more than $2 with $1 for each additional license. No additional license will be required in a community where there are only general stores, regardless of the lines of merchandise handled, the minister said. A general store license will cover all classifications of merchandise.

Renewing Relief Act

House of Commons Passes Resolution On Order Paper

Renewal of the relief act for another year is provided for in resolution placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor.

The relief act lapses at the end of each fiscal year and must be renewed in order that necessary grants to provinces and other assistance to meet unemployment can be continued.

The minister said the legislation which he will introduce eliminates the "blank cheque" features which Liberals opposed so bitterly during the last parliament. The legislation, he said, will call for approval by parliament of appropriations made under the act.

Origin Of Old Term

"Bitter End" Has No Connection With Meaning Of Word

When we speak of the bitter end we often mean an end that is the reverse of sweet, but the term originated in a way that has nothing to do with taste or the usual meaning of bitter. Bitter is a pair of points on the deck of a ship for fastening a rope or cable. Thus when the bitter end has been paid out there is no rope left to wind round the bits.

Little Helps For This Week

In your patience possess ye your souls. Luke 21:19.

What though thy way be dark, and with ceaseless care doth vex till mirth.

To thee no sweet strain singeth; Still hide thy life above, and still Believe that God is love, fulfill Whatever ill He bringeth.

The soul loses comfort of itself when it is impatient. When it submits without a murmur, it possesses itself in peace, and possesses God. To be impatient is to desire what we have not, or not to desire what we have. Why make a calamity of it by being impatient? Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul. We may preserve it in the midst of bitterest pain if we will remain firm and submissive. Peace in this life springs from submission, even to the heaviest things, not in an exemption from bearing them. The chief pang of most trials is not so much the actual suffering itself as our own spirit of resistance to it.

Equalization Payment

The act providing for the equalization of the 1930 Pool payments basis 60c. in store at terminals, has been given three readings in the Federal Parliament at the time of writing. It is anticipated that it will complete its journey through the Senate and become law within a comparatively short time. The present legislation contemplates a payment of $8,732,000 of which approximately $2,732,220 will be paid to Alberta farmers who came under the equalization.

The present understanding is that the money will be paid over to the Wheat Board, who in turn will pay it over to the Wheat Pools of each province.

who will distribute the amounts to the growers who are entitled thereto under certain regulations to be set up by the Wheat Board. The payment includes adjustment on spreads on wheat deliveries.

The Wheat Pools have the various accounts in shape to proceed immediately with the issuing of cheques for the payment upon receipt of the money. Of course it should be understood that the issuing of nearly 35,000 cheques takes considerable time.

Growers are requested not to write into Post Head Office unless absolutely necessary, as any large volume of mail will interfere seriously with the issuing of the cheques.—Wheat Pool Budget.

The Rocky Mountains Call

Two of the most democratic societies in the world, whose membership includes a former king and queen, famous statesmen, and common folk, all on an equal footing, are the Sky-Line Trail Riders and the Sky-Line Trail Hikers, whose annual outings this year promise something new in the way of scenery and energetic healthy recreation.

The Trail Riders, whose five-day trip starts from the Banff Springs Hotel on July 31, will tour a section of the Park which was chosen by Major P. J. Leitch, superintendent of Banff National Park, for the interesting variety it offers. The centre of activities for the Sky-Line Trail Riders, from August 7 to 10, will be Lake O'Hara, probably the most beautiful spot in the Rockies. In both cases there is a good deal of fishing in self-running mountain streams, and unlimited opportunities for the camera enthusiast.

The trail ride actually begins about four miles from Banff, winds its way between Mount Edith and Mount Neveau, follows Portneville Creek east of the Sawback Range, passes over Baker Pass, follows Johnson Creek down to the end of the spectacular canyon of the same name, and ends up near the highway where there is an ideal spot for the Yoe, Yoe and Shindens that concludes every Trail ride outing. It provides five care-free days with fine open Alpine landscape, high passes, good timber, lakes and streams of great beauty.

Plans for the Sky-Line Trail ride make provision for an excellent camp at Lake O'Hara. This will avoid changing camp every night as has been done in the past and will reduce the cost of the outing considerably. From Lake O'Hara the hikers will make a day's adventure over the Bow Lake trail to Lake Louise, through the Narrows Lake district, along spectacular Cataract Creek to the rugged beauty of Lake McArthur and along the McArthur creek trail and southeast through the valleys of lovely Stouffe, Yahnke, Dunbar, and Westcliffe.
